THE CHEROKEE STRIP.

An Interview With the Chairman of the Committee on Territories.

pecial Dispatch to the Daily Eagle. GUTHRIE, Ok., July 3.—Hon, J. S. Struole, of Iowa, chairman of the house com mittee on territories of the Fifty-first congress, who will deliver the address at Guthrie on the 4th, arrived yesterday. Mr Struble, who was invited to speak partic ularly upon the questions involved in the dispute over the opening of the Cherokee strip, was interviewed today by the EAGLE correspondent. In reply to a question with reference to the early opening of the strip he said:

"I am clearly of the opinion that it is the desire of the president and the secretary of the interior that the Cherokee outlet be opened to settlement at the earliest poss!; ble moment. But, of course, they have not the power to open it and will not have until cougress gives them the power."

"Does congress recognize any of the Cherokee claims to the outlet?"

"During my eight years experience as a member of the house there was a difference of opinion among the members, both of the committee on territories and the house itself, but I do not believe that in the last itself, but I do not believe that in the last congress, on the question being squarely brought before the house for decision, the opponents to the opening of the outlet would have had the power to defeat the proposition. But I think the reverse was true in the senate."

"How do you account for the opposition in the senate to the opening of the out-let?"

"I don't know; but this I do know: that they ought to be absolutely and literally carried out at the earliest moment. I have for years regarded the occupancy of the outlet by the cattlemen as the most serious barrier to successful negotiation for the opening."

"Why does the secretary hesitate in carrying out his original order?"

"I am unable to answer, having had no interview or communication with the secretary relative to the matter since congress adjourned."

"What would you suggest as the best course to be pursued by the people of Oklahoma to induce the secretary to hasten the matter?"

"It cocurs to me that the people of Oklahoma in public assemblage should, by emphatic resolutions, demand of the administration, upon every consideration of good faith and wise public policy, that the proclamation of the president directing the removal of the cattle be carried out immediately, while the inconvenience or less the cattle owners.

Washington, July 3.—The secretary of the treasury received a letter this morning from General Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, reviewing the case of the discharged plate printers in about the same tone as his statement to the public, and, in addition, intimating, so it is said, that the Knights of Labor will appeal the case to the president.

Washington, July 3.—Secretary Foster, in speaking of Mr. Powderly's letter regarding the labor troubles in the bureau of engraving and printing, said today that the letter which Jordan, one of the discharged men, chaims to have received from him, offering him his old position in the bureau, was not sent by him (the sec-

I think the press of this section of the country should be induced to open broadsides against the policy of delay in this matter, and arraign those responsible for it as guilty of a neglect of a great public duty. I wish here to express my surprise at the information that thousands of cattle are still permitted to graze on this outlet."

"How soon do you think the new lands will be opened?"

AN ARMY CHANGE.

AN ARMY CHANGE.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Secretary Proctor today signed an order abolishing the three great military divisions of the United States. These were the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Missouri, commanded respectively by Generals Howard. Ruger and Miles. The purpose is to make the department commanders report direct to Gen. Schofield and the secretary of war instead of as heretofore reporting to their division commanders. Mal. Gen. Oliver O. Howard is assigned to the command of the department of the Missouri, which will embrace the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana. Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Indian territory, with headquarters at Chicago.

lass is home on a vacation. To a reporter tonight he said, concerning the recent revolution in Hayti, that for a time things were exceedingly uncomfortable. Bullets whistled around in a lively manner. The Revolutionists thought they were going to have an easy time of it, but they were badly in error. President Hippolyte was equal to the emergency, and they were soon glad enough to flee to the mountains. They only murdered about sixty. All is quiet now, he added, and he did not think there would be any further trouble soon. Hippolyte had shown himself a level-headed man, and stands higher with the people than ever before.

YELLOW FEVER.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—A telegram was received today by Surgeon-General Wyman, of the marine hospital service, from the United States quarantine station at Chandler Island, off the coast of Missisppi, announcing the death there, on the night of June 29, of Assistant-Surgeon J. Groenvelt, of yellow fever.

SILVER PURCHASES.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Washington, July 2.—Hon. Charles F. Crisp, of Georgia, was in the city yesterday. When questioned regarding the speakership contest, he said: "The election of speaker is too far off to say much about it. Just what is going on I do not know, as I have been at home most of the time since congress adjourned. I am how time since congress adjourned. I am now on my way to New York to celebrate with Tammany on the Fourth, and it may be that I shall learn something there. I do not think sectionalism will enter into the contest, and it should not. There is too contest, and it should not. There is too much at stake for the Democratic party to allow such issue to come up. All we want is a man capable of filling the place, be he from the north, south, east or west. No matter who the fortunate aspirant may be, I feel sure he will receive the hearty cooperation of the defeated ones. I am glad that personalities have not cropped out so far in the fight, and I trust they will not. I do not think the Farmers' Alliance members will refuse to go into caucus with us. bers will refuse to go into caucus with us, because all from the south have the inter-est of the party as much at heart as any one else. one else.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 3.—At a meeting of the Randall club last night the arrangements for the club's annual fets champetre on July 22 were complete. A motion was made by a member to invite ex-President Cleveland to be present on that occasion and an amendment was offered to include in the invitation the name of Governor Hill, of New York.

A storm of "noes" was the response, during which the club president, with mock solemnity, ruled the amendment out of order. When the question was called on the original motion a solitary "no" indicated the sentiment of western Pennsylvania Democrats.

Invitations were then voted to Governor PITTSBURG, Pa., July 3 -At a meeting

Invitations were then voted to Governor Campell of Ohio and Governor Flemming of West Virginia, as well as to many other prominent Democrats. A committee was appointed to arrange for the meeting of the state league of Democratic clubs which meets in Pitts-burg in September.

THE STANDARD MONOPOLY.
BEHLIN, July 3.—Interviews with coal oil dealers at Berlin, both wholesale and the Standard Oil Company, having absorbed the big importing houses, will now try to gain control of the jobbing trade and then of the retail business in Germany.

Every step taken is in exact conformity with law and the remedies to be proposed are likely to prove only temporary and ineffectual. It is generally believed that even the Rothschilds will have to yield to the American company.

Robert Salinger, president of the United German Petroleum works, a corporation which has extensive refineries, said that he had little doubt that the American company would sooner or later control the entire German market. "As soon as they have completed arrangements with the Rothschilds," he said, "they will have all Germany in their power. We have a few oil wells in Alsace, and there are also some of the federation from which Powderly gets his information of the "Gompers Federation." The name was put on a card by my private secretary in order to identify the people in my mind."

THE ARIZONA INDIANS.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The theatened Indian outbreak in Arizona has apparently been checked. Gen. McCook has received the following report from Col. Corbin, which he has forwarded from Los Angeles by wire for the information and action of the war department:

"Happily we have been able to carry out instructions to complete success without the loss of a single man. We left camp at 5 o'clock this morning, and after three hours marching, were in front of Areiba village. We afterwards marched through the streets of the pueblo and saw the great preparations for defonse. They were only persuaded to surrender peaceably by the presence of the large command, so wisely ordered for this duty. They openly admited that our numbers only prevented them from making a fight, for which they had made much preparation. Pursuant to your general instructions. I have ordered the prisoners to Fort Wingate, via Holbrook, and the command, after four days needed rest in Kean's canon, to return to their respective posts.

"The presence of this command has done much good in this part of the territory, and for some time to come little concern need be had on account of further troubles."

The biggest coal oil merchant in Berlin is Levi Levishon. He thinks the American company will not be content until it has control of the retail business in Germany. It could drive the Rothschilds from the field and would do so. What will they do? The Americans say to them: "You go east to Africa, the output is part of the retail output of the great company will not be content until it has control of the retail business in Germany to the field. The only bring left then will be to turn our petroleum works into distilleries. Mr. Salinger thought the Nobel brothers would also gladly seil out to the American company at their power. There was no apparent emotion on the part of the defendant; but he sat gating steadily into the faces of the jury, preserving the same indifference that has characterized his bearing throughout the trial. Nashville. Tenn. July 3.—A bold diamond robbery was perpetrated this afternoon at E. Wiggers jewelry store on Union street. Mr. Wiggers and a colored porter were in the store alone. A young man of medium size in a neat-fitting suit, entered the store and asked to be shown some silverware. Mr. Wiggers proceeded to the rear of the store, where the aliver case was kept, and proceeded to show the goods to the customer, who finally left without purchasing, walking leistrely away. Soon after Mr. Wiggers found one of the jewelry trays kept in the show case lying under the counter. The tray was one in which diamonds were displayed. A DIAMOND ROBBERY.

was heavily leaded with passengers going away to spend the Fourth of July with friends.

The passenger train which was due at 3.55, was running on orders. When the stop was made the engineer and fireman wentto work to repair their engine. A flagman was sent back, but before he had gone two cars length the freight train, composed of Swift's meat cars, came in sight running twenty-six miles an hour. composed of Swift's meat cars, came in sight, running twenty-six miles an hour, and down a heavy grade. The engineer supposed that he had a clear track, and having a through freight, was not expected to stop at Ravenna. He whistled for brakes, reversed his engine and did all he could to stop his train; but he was so near the passenger train that his train ran into it at almost full speed. The engineer and fireman both jumped and saved their lives. The freight engine went entirely through the day coach and the rear sleeper and buried itself into the second sleeper, the third car of the train. There was nothing left of the train but a mass of debris and the sides of the second sleeper, stood above the monster engine. The stood above the monster engine. The wreck took fire at once. The fire depart-ment was at once called for and hundrels soon surrounded the wreck, but to little purpose.

The greatest loss of life was in the day coach, on the rear train, containing about forty-five glass workers going to their homes in New York. The fire started in this car. The list of the dead, injured and missing, as far as can be learned, is as follows:

Dead-David Relihan, J. Griffin, A. Dunthrop, W. Kane, J. Coyle, F. Burns, J. Kimball, J. Deeman, O. Hardling, D. Ryan, D. Cassady, P. Nolan and a nurse, name

All of these were taken out of the wreck All of these were taken out of the wreck dead and all but three were killed. Thomas Colville was taken out alive. He was terribly crushed and burned, and his sufferings were awful to behold. In an agonizing voice he called to a friend: "Billie, for God's sake" get an axe and kill me." He died soon after. Henry Gilden was hedly injured and died in a few moments.

Injured—H. C. DeGraff, George Smith, John Godwin, James McGill, John Kesling, Jonah Clark and A. P. Jones. Their injuries consist of broken limbs principally and none of them are believed to be ly, and none of them are believed to be mation which the law allows shall be fatal. Thomas Hanly and Joseph Morgan are seriously hurt, and it is feared will

ADDITIONAL DETAILS.

The wreck was the most disasterous that has ever occurred on the Erie road. Many of the passengers were asleep when the awful crash came, and a number were crushed to death in their bertos. A terrible some followed. There were cries for help from all parts of the train, mingled with the dying means of others whose lives were being crushed out. The steam was escaping from the monster freight engine and soon the wreck caught fire and crowded upon those who were fastened in the debris. The few persons who escaped without injury worked with almost superhuman energy in their efforts to rescue the more unfortunate once. In several instances persons alowly burned to death while pleading with their last breath for help which could not be readered.

The wreck was most complete. The care alther hands of the clergy. This is roomalidered to be the final blow to the Parsident and the property of the Parsident of the Parsident

The wreck was most complete. The cars were upon and across each other in a solid mass. The injured were removed to the station and in a couple of hours relief trains arrived from Cleveland and other points and the injured were sent to Cleveland and placed in the hespital. The dead were removed to the rooms of the undertakers in Favenna, where they will await identification. Some are so nadir burned that it will be difficult to identify them. At 10 o'clock a list of names had been secured.

The sleeper which was demolished was a dead sleeper, and contained no parsen-gers. Only two of the ten passengers on the third coach were seriously injured. How many of the glass-howers were killed is not definitely known, as the bodies were burned. A few escaped from the car, but it is feared that at least twenty fire were prevented a riou

On the person of Willis Hane, of Corning, N. Y., a glass blower, was found $200. The boy had been saving his money to surprise his folks, and death stopped his journey. It is said that a Smoothe' old habe, found dead in the wreck, was the child of a passenger, and that when he saw that it and the nurse were killed he heartlessly left them and continued his journey east assoon as a train was made up. I reversed my lever as soon as possible, and, with the fireman, jumped from the train." Mr. Holman seems to think that the brakeman of the passenger train, Fred Boynton, could have flagged him from a greater distance.

A tramp who was stealing a ride told a reporter that the flagman did not go back over a half car length to flag the approaching freight train. The tramp has been placed under arrest to be used as a witness.

Cincinnati, July 3.—The Ravenna wreck evidently caught Cincinnati and Findlay passengers exclusively. The two sleepers burned are undoubtedly the two from this city, which were attached to the New York express at Marion Junction. The Findlay coach for Youngstown would naturally be in the rear of the Cincinnatisteper. As a car would not be sent out with less than fifty passengers, the probability is that the casualities are limited to that car. Telegrams have been received here from several passengers on the Cuhere from several passengers on the Cu-cionati sleeper that they are safe. CHICAGO, July 3.—Gen. Nelson A. Miles and Caot. It is reported that three tramps were burned to death, but it cannot be verified. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

AWAITING ELECTROCUTION. Sino Sino, N. Y., July S.—The four mur-derers, Smile, Slocini, Wood (colored) and Jugiro (Japanese), who are to die by elec-tricity next week and who have not, like their fellow condemned fellow prisoners, McElvaine and Prexis, succeeded in se-curing further delay, are awaiting death with apparent calluness. Slocini, the with apparent calmness. Slocum, the wife murderer, says that his lawyer has only two days more in which to get in his work, as he expresses it. Slocum adds: "I guess it's all up this time, and I'm glad of guess it's all up this time, and I'm glad of it. I don't want any more fooling. I'd rather have it over." Jugiro, who killed a fellow countryman and fellow sailor, and who is said by a New York paper to have gone losane, is apparently low spirited by the approach of his terrible end. The prison efficials say that there is no chance of a stay of proceeding on account of his mental condition. Wood, who killed an Italian fellow laborer on the New York squeduct, is quiet. He reads, smokes and sits up late, but rarely says a word. Smiler, who killed one of his three wives, because she left him on account of ill treatment, tasks continually, protesting his innocence and complaining in a whinhis innocence and complaining in a whin-

"It is just possible that I may not execute anybody next week," said Warren Brown of Sing Sing prison. He had becaused how the preparations for the execution of the six murderers were going on. "You see, it is more than possible that a stay may be asked for and granted to produce new evidence; still, there may be some sensible judges who after this delay may not grant it, and in that case some of the convicted men will have to die."

Mr. Brown talked as nonchalantly as if he were going to be the man at a wedding instead of the manager of a wholesale slaughter. In response to further queries he said that everything was in readiness and he anticipated no hitch. He admitted that as it was only the second trial of electrocution there was still a novelty about it Lowbox, July & Paruell's marriage has not helped his cause, as he and his friends last week confidently hoped it would. The action of the Irish bishops yesterday, in reaffirming the declaration that Paruell was unfit to be the leader of the Irish party, shows that he will find no quarter at the hands of the clergy. This is considered to be the final blow to the Paruellite cause, and the reception which he met with at Carlow yesterday shows that the people have ceased to pay any attention to him. At Marshal, it may be added. Paruell addressed a meeting at which only thirty people were present.
